Good day, Eisenhower School Families,

Two exciting things to tell you about regarding this Friday, October 20:

- In the morning, Eisenhower students will walk the short distance from our modular units to Jacksonville Middle School to view the JMS fall theatrical production of Big Bad--a modern take on the fable of the Big Bad Wolf. This performance will last about an hour, and all of our Eisenhower teachers and staff will accompany and stay with students. What a great opportunity!
- Friday afternoon, students who have earned the First Quarter Eagle Pride Behavioral Reward will be treated to apple cider ice cream floats. Students who have not earned the reward will participate in social-emotional learning enrichment activities. Please look toward the end of the week for your child to bring home a paper indicating her/his status for the reward. Should you have any questions about our quarterly behavioral expectations and rewards, please reference the attached letter and matrix that was sent home at the beginning of the school year.

We're so proud of our students' social and academic development, and we appreciate your partnership in our shared work!

Eisenhower Pride,
Tim Chipman
