

EAGLE PRIDE CHARACTER TRAIT:

This month's character trait is caring. Being caring can come in many different forms, such as displaying kindness towards others, sharing with others, being polite by saying "please" and "thank-you", being sensitive to other's feelings, showing compassion to those less fortunate, and forgiving someone who has done you wrong.

A NOTE FROM MR. CHIPMAN: WOULD YOU RATHER?

Many of us are familiar with the game "Would You Rather"--would you rather help prepare food or help clean up the kitchen? This simple game might have impacts on engaging your child around your dinner table. For example, at school, would you rather have more math time or ELA time? Then, when your student answers, follow-up with a deeper-level question, Why? or Tell me more! This simple strategy may move your table conversation beyond the typical "How was your day? Fine" exchange. Get set for some enriching table talk! We appreciate our partnering parents.

EAGLE PRIDE CHARACTER TRAIT:

This month's character trait is being attentive. Attentive students are mindful and observant, and they give close attention to what's happening. They are polite and respectful, and they don't talk, read, or stare out the window. Instead, they stay focused and participate in class.

A warm Eagle welcome to Mrs. Dunseth, our new Kindergarten class teacher.

A NOTE FROM MR. CHIPMAN: ALL THINGS NEW

The feeling of returning to school--new supplies, new teachers, new friends to be made--is one unlike any other. And this year, Eisenhower Eagles have the double pleasure of returning to a familiar yet also new school building. Our new space is tailor-made to support learning and social development. We couldn't be more pleased, and we value your family's partnership, in both familiar and new ways.
